THE WESLEYAN ALUMNAE

MACON, GA. 31201 • DECEMBER 1971

Happiness is Remembering

At press time the Wesleyan campus was already flooded with the Spirit of Christmas. Halls were decked, doors of offices and dorms were hung with all manner of ribbons and greens and holiday fancies. The towering tree in the Burden parlor was heavy with hand-made baubles and garlands of popcorn.

Our Alumnae Office, full of cheer, served fruit punch and goodies to a stream of seniors and their sophomore sisters, all chattering of holiday plans.

"Merry Christmas" was called in by Florence Trimble Jones and Linda Anderson Lane . . .

Greetings doubled the mail. First to arrive was a trim little folder from Induk Pahk with news of the junior college project begun at her boys' school, Berea-in-Korea, and the penned "am thrilled to hear $100,000 given for Dr. Manget Fund established by his wife, Jennie Loyall at our Wesleyan" . . .

Next come a gay red gift edition of "Happiness for You", by Norman Vincent Peale, from Anne and Willaford Leach, treasured Palm Beach friends of Wesleyan and family . . .

And then the cards, beginning with one from Elaine Wood Whitehurst, now living in Atlanta, who quoted son Jimmy's advice to a friend: "You oughta relax and find joy wher-ever it's available!"

Action spoke loud, as did words, that December morning at Student Assembly when Leslie Nellams, head chef at Wesleyan with 43 years of service, was honored by the student body with a gold watch and praise from the college community.

With love alumnae remember Leslie . . . and Jimmy . . . and Induk . . . and Miss Jennie and Dr. Fred . . . and the Leaches and the Burdens . . . Linda . . . Florence . . . Elaine . . . and countless others tied in with the Wesleyan experience . . . and hope that all of them will "Relax and find joy" —and peace— in the Christmas season and in the New Year Ahead.

FRONT COVER

CELEBRATE 135 YEARS

December 23 is the birthday of Wesleyan's Charter. That day, 135 years ago, she became the first college in the world chartered to grant to women "all such honors, degrees, and licenses as are usually conferred in colleges and universities."

Higher education for women was won in a long, hard struggle by a few far-sighted men. Duncan C. Campbell, Daniel Chandler, the Rev. Elijah Sinclair, and various citizens of Macon laid the groundwork, until that fateful day when Alexander Stephens fired the legislature of Georgia in his historic maiden speech to grant a charter to the then-named Georgia Female College.

Wesleyan has dropped "female" from its name, but not its dedication to the ideals of educating women. The College has come a long way since the day when one gentleman remarked: "I would not have one of your graduates for a wife, for I could never even build a pigpen without her criticizing it and saying it was not put up on Mathematical principals;" and another said: "No, I will not give a dollar; all a woman needs to know is how to read the New Testament, and to spin and weave clothing."

This is a far cry from Project '71 and upcoming Project '72 in January.

On the cover Jane Stephens Williams, '74, is blowing out the candles on Wesleyan's 135th birthday cake. She is the great-great-great niece of the great Alexander Stephens.

Japanese Alumnae Club Organized During Trip

By W. Earl Strickland

WESLEYAN NOW HAS an alumnae club in Tokyo!

When Mrs. Strickland and I visited Japan for two weeks this summer we discovered many things that pleased us very much—the friendly and efficient Japanese people, the beautiful mountains, the fast railroads, the excellent food, the modern hotels as well as the small quaint restaurants, and the places of cultural and historic interest. But most of all we were delighted to see again our friends.

Through the twelve years we have been at Wesleyan we have been fortunate to know well a small but continuing stream of young women from Japan. Most of them have been exchange students at Wesleyan for one year from International Christian University in Toyko. And from the time we landed until we took off to return home a Wesleyanne was volunteering to render some helpful service.

One evening five alumnae who live in Tokyo had a dinner party for us at the magnificent New Otani Hotel. Miss Kimie Kanai, a graduate of Wesleyan, now is employed by Pan American Airlines. Miss Masako Ikehara graduated from I.C.U. and now works with Japan Airlines. Miss Yoko Ichikawa after graduating from I.C.U. taught Japanese there last year. Since returning home we have heard from her that she now is doing graduate work and some teaching at Colgate University. Miss Midori Harai completed her work at I.C.U. this summer. The last member of the group was Miss Setsuko Kato who was a student at Wesleyan during the 1970-71 year and who will complete her work at I.C.U. this year. The group plans to continue to get together from time to time.

In Kyoto, the ancient capitol of Japan, we had a happy reunion with another former Wesleyan student, Miss Mumiko Ueda who now is Mrs. Seigi Yo. Kimie Kanai flew down from Toyko and she and Fumiko spent the day sightseeing with us. In the evening Seigi and Fumiko provided dinner for the five of us at a Japanese restaurant. The traditional "hunters' dinner," prepared on charcoal burners at our tables in a cozy private room was a real treat. And after dinner we enjoyed tea at the Yo home.

ANCIENT TEA CEREMONY

In preparation for trip to Orient Setsuko demonstrates ritual to President's wife, using kimono and sweet-meats sent from Tokyo by her Grandmother.

One delightful weekend we spent at Nikko, a mountain resort which has much to offer to tourists — beautiful mountains and waterfalls, and one of the most historic and beautiful shrines in Japan. One could easily spend an entire day touring the shrine. Setsuko Kato accompanied us to Nikko, and in addition to the joy which she herself gave us she served admirably as interpreter and guide.

ON SEPARATE DAYS in Tokyo Setsuko and her grandmother introduced us to the Kabuki and No forms of drama. The visits to Japanese theatres featuring these two historic means of artistic expression taught us much about the Japanese. And then a visit to Setsuko's home where we met and dined with a number of her kinfolk made our introduction to Japan complete.

I must mention the luncheon which the Acting President of International Christian University, Dr. Akira Miyake, gave for us. Along with several members of his staff he invited Miss Setsuko Kato who was returning to I.C.U. from Wesleyan and Miss Katsuko Kimura who will be at Wesleyan throughout the 1971-72 year. I.C.U., an international and interdenominational university founded immediately after World War II, would merit an entire article if space permitted.

We returned from Japan impressed with the country and with its dramatic achievements in recent decades. But we were especially proud to know that such lovely and capable young women are representing Wesleyan in Japan.

Visit Mme. Chiang in Taipei

Trustee Evelyn Wright Banks, Newnan, '14, was missed at Alumnae Council. When your Editor learned from Virginia Banks St. John, '28, that "Cousin Evelyn" had been to the Orient last summer she sent a request to that lovely lady for a report of the trip. Here it is:

EVEN YESTERDAY IS not news, much less five months ago when my long unrealized dream of a trip to the Orient came true, but there are two highlights that might be of interest to you, because of their connection with Wesleyan.

In Kobe it was wonderful to visit Palmore Institute where Dr. John B. Cobb and his wife, Theodora Atkinson ('14), spent the greater part of forty years teaching and spreading the gospel. The school was in session both night and day and equipped with all the best and latest teaching aids. One large building was dedicated to John B. and Theodora with the motto "Go forward."

In Taipei five of us, four of whom were Wesleyan alumnae, Mary Pearl Chance Hopkins ('17), Elizabeth McMaster Carswell ('16), Bernice Wright ('15), myself, and Rosa McMaster Tarbutton (Elizabeth's sister and not an alumna) were invited to have tea with Madame Chiang Kai-shek.

She sent for us at our hotel with a chauffeur and her secretary and we were whisked away to her palatial residence atop a high hill. One of her cousins, general, received us and ushered us into a large reception room to await the appearance of the "Madame", as she is lovingly called. She soon made a regal entrance, slender and lovely in white silk Chinese dress, and greeted us warmly and graciously. She was much interested in news of Wesleyan, politics in the States, and the Methodist church.

While a schoolgirl at Wesleyan she was noted for her quick and witty replies and we laughed over the one she had made when asked if her rosy cheeks were painted and she said, "Yes, China painted."

Of course we sympathized with her in the loss of her brother and she said her greatest comfort came from a Carmelite nun who said, "Death is not the extinguishing of light, but the putting out of the lamp because dawn has come."

We were served delicious refreshments, chicken sandwiches and a lovely cake. She said, "I'm sure to try this. It's good. It's not a mix." And so ended a happy afternoon.

MARY EUYANG SHEN SPEAKS APRIL 15

REUNION: "AN OPPORTUNITY to chuckle at bygone antics, ponder forgotten follies, rejoice at cherished triumphs, and muse over what might have been" . . . and to see again beloved Wesleyan friends, those old familiar haunts, so beautiful, so treasured . . . to be drenched in the Spirit of Wesleyan, and inspired anew by its emanation from the students of today as they applaud the innovations and advances revitalizing their campus.

Date: April 14-15, 1972

Theme: "East Meets Wesleyan"

Speaker: Mary Euyang Shen, AB '46, of Chicago, Shanghai, Canton, Formosa, and Washington, D. C., who will tell on Saturday of her years with Voice of America.

A special invitation is extended to members of the class of '46, who will remember that Mary was married in the Wesleyan parlor. Some of them participated in the festivities that day, and one of them, Fran Calloway McCommon, Macon, will entertain Mary as her house guest on Rivoli Rd., across from the College.

"Not just reunioners, but everyone is invited to come for the week-end, or any part of it," said Nina Sheppard Terrell, national alumnae president, "also families and friends."

"IT WILL BE SUCH FUN!"

Mary's Macon classmates of '47 plan party and other festivities for the weekend. L. to r., Georgeanne Dessau Blum, Martha Bradford Swann, Fran Calloway McCommon, and Jean Perkins Heard.

HQ for various classes have been set up at Macon motels and hotels, and parties are being planned. "Be sure to bring pictures of children and grandchildren", reminds Frances Bruce Van Horn, Alumnae Director, who is receiving queries daily about reunion. It's not too early to make your reservation, says she.

Friday night is the banquet, following the President's reception. Music by outstanding students is included in the program.

AT FALL FROLIC

Fall Frolic Hears Alumnae on Careers

High school students who came to Fall Frolic Nov. 21-22 had a chance to meet a group of alumnae who were invited to the campus to tell the visitors about careers they were pursuing as an outgrowth of their Wesleyan training. Special exhibits and booths were set up in the gym, where posters, printed material, and visual aids complemented personal interviews.

Presenting their careers were Sally Shingler Kurrie, '70, banking; Cynthia Bittner, '71, respiratory therapy; Emily Chase Cook, '70, journalism; Lana Tygart, '70, special education of trainable retarded children; Charisse Mallory Black, '60, music—professional, church, public and private education; Roxanna Arrington Sway, '63, interior design; and Karen Conner Shockley, '63, who is the youngest school principal in Bibb County (Macon).

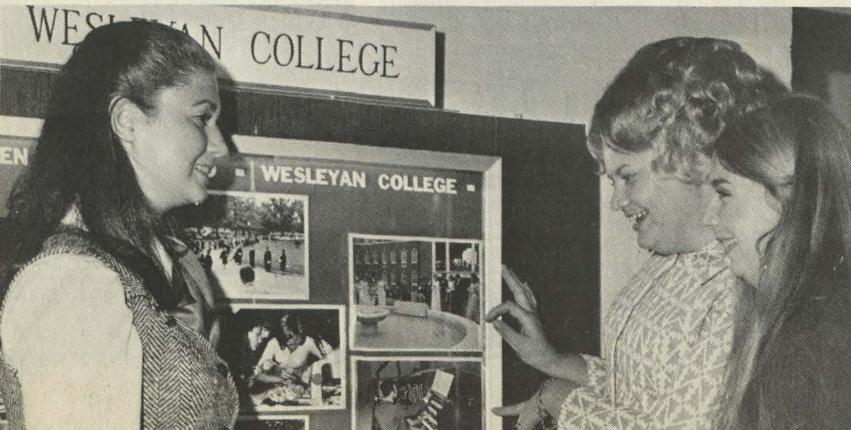

Admissions Director Millard Beckum reported the weekend a big success with 150 high school seniors from eight states getting a panoramic preview of college life.

COLLEGE HAS TREASURES

Roxanne Arrington Sway, '63, interior designer at Rich's, Atlanta, shows fine art object of Porter collection to Sarah Turnbull, Avon Park, Fla., '74; Mary Charles Griffin, Conway, S. C.; and Pam Rogers Parks, Jacksonville, Fla., '72.

Student Trustee is Elected at Meeting

A student with full voting privileges, to sit with the board as a regular trustee, was approved by the Wesleyan Board of Trustees at its fall meeting in October. She is the president of the student body, Mary Nell Morgan, Spartanburg, S. C. Her election was made possible by a change in the charter.

Randolph Thrower, Atlanta attorney and husband of Margaret Munroe, '35, returned to the board after an absence while he served as commissioner of Internal Revenue; Emily Hearn Webb (Mrs. James), '42, of Columbus, Ga., was elected alumnae trustee.

Also included in board membership are four faculty members, named by other members of the faculty. This year they are Dr. Harry Gilmer, Dr. Lillian Cowie, Mrs. Russell Hatfield, and Dr. Ernestine Bledsoe.

The board voted to raise tuition for next year's incoming freshmen from $2,710 to $2,900.

A plaque was presented to Reginald Trice in appreciation of his many years of service as chairman of the board. Mr. Trice will resign his duties as chairman this year.

Willie Autographs New Book April 15

Willie Snow Ethridge, '20, opens the introduction of her new book, "Strange Fires", by writing: "My interest in John Wesley had its beginning when I was a student at Wesleyan College in Macon, Georgia."

John Wesley had come to the New World, to Georgia, with Oglethorpe, on his second trip. This is the story of Wesley's passionate love for an eighteen-year-old girl, Sophy Hopkey, which "affected profoundly, if not completely, John's life and the history of the Christian world."

The romance, says Willie, was too unbelievable to be put into a novel. Her book is the true story which was locked for two hundred years in John's Georgia Diary, undecipherable in a complex of shorthand and abbreviations. The code was broken in the first decade of this century.

Willie is being kept busy at autographing parties, in Atlanta, Macon, and Brunswick, Ga. A luncheon in her honor was given in Brunswick November 29 to which alumnae of the area were invited. There was an autograph party at the Lee Street Book Shop owned by Mary E. Miller, '24. Willie is planning to autograph this new book at Wesleyan on Alumnae Day, April 15, after lunch.

Invite Alumnae to Project '72

GREAT INTEREST IS being evinced by alumnae, as well as students, in Project '72, the many-faceted January short-term of innovative presentations and courses introduced in the first interim term, in 1971.

As announced in the Oct. NOW (News of Wesleyan), the thematic core is "Patterns of Change". A series of programs dealing with this theme will be open to the public, gratis. Innovative courses of study will be available to alumnae and others, non-credit, for $50; fee for credit courses is the usual $250. Dormitory space will be open at $30 per week to women who wish to stay on campus. Courses start Monday, Jan. 3.

There will also be individual student projects, studies on campus, and courses off-campus and abroad. Two members of the faculty, Miss Cornelia Shiver (history) and Miss Marcia Isaacson (art) will take groups to England and France for seminars, lectures, museums, etc. Joel Plum, art department, will exchange posts with a professor from Manchester College, Ind. A study of organisms and their environment in the estuarine waters of Georgia will be made under professors Cowie and Brodie; the court system and criminal justice in Georgia will be explored under the guidance of Prof. Scarborough (sociology).

Core presentations, dealing with sub-strata of our changing culture—life styles, pollution and economics, racism and poverty, and future trends in education, will open Wed., Jan. 5, with the White Roots of Peace, a North American Indian Communications Group, and will close on Jan. 28 with a talk by Dr. Mary Bunting, president of Radcliffe College.

In between is a veritable feast of ideas. The schedule of events, an attractive two-tone pink brochure, has been sent to alumnae and other friends, and listings have appeared in the press. Anyone interested in information on programs, courses of study or tours may write to the Dean, Dr. Oscar C. Page. Joyce Reddick Schafer is chairman.

MRS. LEACH HONORED BY WESLEYAN

In appreciation of the generosity and support of Wesleyan through the years by Mr. and Mrs. Willaford R. Leach, Palm Beach, Fla., the College presented an engraved silver tray. Here Mrs. Leach accepts the token from President Strickland. Beside her is Robert McK. Foster, Palm Beach, Wesleyan trustee. In Nov. the Leaches sent hundreds of dogwoods to be planted on campus.

Wesleyan Qualified For Foundation Money

A number of small foundations are considering liquidation next year, according to Robert A. Wys, assistant to the president in charge of fund raising. In some instances, Wesleyan could be the recipient of the assets.

Beginning in 1972 each charitable organization must be administered similar to a taxable business corporation. This is the result of the new federal and state laws which placed more stringent controls on their operations. Many smaller foundations have found the overhead costs to be excessive and have found it both practical and desirable to transfer its assets to another charitable activity. Other foundations undoubtedly will also seek such arrangements next year.

Wesleyan, of course, qualifies to receive such assets and is prepared to fulfill any charitable objective which pertains to higher education. Interested alumnae may obtain additional information from the Development Office.

Mexico Calling!

An opportunity to travel and to study abroad is offered in Wesleyan's summer study program in Mexico. Six weeks at Monterey "Tec", from July 9 to Aug. 17 earns six semester hours. The price, $425, includes tuition, room and board, maid, laundry, medical attention, and excursions. In charge is Prof. Edward O. Lawhorn, department of modern languages, tour director the past five years, who, with his wife will accompany the group. For information on courses and plans write him at the College.

Hope 2000 Subscribe To '72 Loyalty Fund

The Alumnae Fund, an expression of loyalty, has set as its goal 2000 or more participants for 1972. Last year 931 alumnae gave to the Fund, which was an increase over the year before, during which time alumnae were generous in making pledges to the Capital Gifts Campaign.

"We are slowly climbing back", said Nina Sheppard Terrell, national president. "Every gift is needed and appreciated, no matter what its size."

Those contributing will receive a drawing of the Mt. Vernon porch suitable for framing.

Topping the 1971 list was the class of 1931 (Julia Bell Pierce representative), with 39%; 1921 (Maude Bradley Lee) 32%; 1909 (Susan Leonard) 26%.

Additional money was sent by alumnae to the College through the President's office. Not showing on the 1970-71 total listed in the recent Loyalty Fund brochure is the following:

|                                    |            |
|------------------------------------|------------|
| Atlanta-Wesleyan Alumnae Club      | $1,027.55 |
| Katherine Catchings Ware, '27      | 332.37     |
| Estate of Rosa Guerry Snowden, '97 | 500.00     |
| Mary Frances Godfrey Candler, '13  | 500.00     |
| Martha Harrison Middlebrooks, '44  | 100.00     |
| Jessie Dickey Strickland, '15      | 100.00     |
| Lillian Budd Jackson, '24          | 100.00     |
| Claire Dickey Carreker, '15        | 50.00      |

| Linda Anderson Lane, '19           | 9.00       |
| Frances Strohecker, Hon. '60       | 15.00      |
| Total                              | $2,753.92 |

Gayle Clark, '68, wrote: "The brochure on the Loyalty Fund was just fabulous! I've never been so proud of Wesleyan before. That is an excellent way to show what other classes have done as compared to ours. For the first time in a long time I feel very good about sending my money to Wesleyan.

You are really doing a wonderful job. Keep up the good work!"

Look in your Class Notes for the name of your representative. Your support is needed. We hope you can send a generous contribution to the Alumnae Assn. Let us hear from you!

Of Council Meet

Music opened and closed the day on Oct. 27, set aside for Alumnae Council, when just under 100 representatives of various classes and groups came to the campus from near and far. But packed in between Senior Susan Wyllis' morning performance on the harp and a voice-piano-organ program by other students at late afternoon Convocation was a wealth of information and inspiration both given and received.

Highlighting the agenda Dr. Lillian Cowie presented a group of biology majors who told of their future plans growing out of their major in biology.

Eloise Brown will be in Chicago in January studying public health.

Martha Johnson (pre-med) will observe inhalation therapy at the Macon Hospital. Pam Houston, who will graduate in December, will survey para-medical sciences, looking toward medical technology.

Miriam McElheney, who plans to teach, spent 11 weeks last summer in the Dept. of Public Health observing the use of pesticides in Georgia, is interested in ecology and environmental protection.

Stefanie Scott, interested in wild life conservation and forestry, hopes to be a field biologist; Kathy Weeks will skin dive in the Keys during the January term, hopes to get her Master's in marine biology and teach it. (Kathy is president of the Biology Club).

Susan Moses, from a family of doctors, expects to go into medical work, taking biology as pre-med training.

Millard Beckum, admissions director, was introduced and reported that in six weeks he and his staff had visited 200 high schools, to "make sure Wesleyan is not a well-guarded secret".

Oscar C. Page, new academic dean, told how the January short term offers new ways of learning, new types of courses, new experiences, while Wesleyan holds its original concept of Liberal Arts. In the regular term Wesleyan now stresses the practical side, as in the reinstituting of courses in medical technology which allows a student to take three years work at Wesleyan, then a year at a medical tech school, and receive a BS from Wesleyan; also summer internship in journalism for course credit.

Of Macon Club

The Macon Alumnae Club, inspired by the success of its 1971 Kitchen Karavan, is immersed in plans for a second tour of unusual kitchens, to be held Feb. 24. Again, on sale at the different kitchens will be baked goodies, jellies, pickles, aprons, and other home-made "kitchen" items. Also to be sold is an alumnae cookbook, 100 recipes on separate cards, now being assembled. Karen Smith Glendenning is again in charge of the Karavan. On last Alumnae Day she presented Wesleyan $1000 from Karavan proceeds to be used for scholarships for Macon girls.

An informal buffet supper in the Manget Dining Room on Oct. 19 opened the Macon Club season, with President Sandra Bell Shipp at the helm.

Of Group III

Atlanta alumnae, Group III, met for a luncheon on Dec. 15 at the Atlanta Women's Club, with representatives of the College as special guests. Kathleen Rogers Pape, '19, is group chairman.

Of Group VIII

Laura Sullivan Barkley, '68, recently moved to Atlanta, having served in Wesleyan's publicity office, wrote of attending a meeting of Group VIII: "I was so impressed with the interest and activity of this group of alumnae. I had heard before what a good group it was but I still am overwhelmed . . . I look forward to attending the monthly meetings at members' homes. They have interesting programs planned and the Christmas Bazaar is coming up. I was glad, too, to get a yearbook with the names of all the alumnae in our group."

Of New Course

One of the courses needed for Certification in Early Childhood Education will be offered Spring Semester on Wednesday afternoons, 3:30-5:30. This course is Early Language Development.

Any interested person in the Macon area may register for this course. Registration will be February 7th on the first day of class. Fee will be $75.00.

Of Atlanta Club

Wesleyan spirit and enthusiasm characterized, as always, the annual meeting of the Atlanta Alumnae club, held Nov. 19 at St. James United Methodist Church. President Carolyn Malone Carpenter introduced the speakers, Linda Lane, who had coordinated Project '71, and Joyce Reddick Schafer, chairman of Project '72, both members of the Wesleyan faculty. They spoke of the genesis of the January "short term" and its development into a vital part of the college curriculum under the new calendar, and invited Atlanta alumnae to participate as students and to attend central presentations.

A Christmas boutique, featuring arts and crafts items made by members of Group VIII, students of the '60's, preceded the meeting, which was followed by luncheon provided by Group VII, girls of the '50's. Elaine Wood Whitehurst, national vice president in charge of clubs, was "chief cook".

This delightful day was enjoyed by guests from Macon: Linda Anderson Lane, Frances Bruce Van Horn (Alumnae Director), and Freda Kaplan Nadler (Alumnae Editor), also Virginia Lane Beattie, of Atlanta.

Earlier in the season the Atlanta club held a luncheon at the home of President Carpenter honoring past local and national presidents of the alumnae. National leaders present were Jane Mulkey Green, Rosaline Jenkins Gilmore, Elaine Wood Whitehurst, and Irene Sewell Hobby (also local president). Other local heads honored were Dessa Hayes Asher, Betty Jo Hogan Cook, Louise Davis Davison, Sue Tanner McKenzie, Martha Aiken Pendergrast, and Martha Zachry Thwaite. Sales of Tupperware and Benson fruit cake last year added to their funds.

Of Nominations

Nominating Committee, with Jane Mulkey Green chairman, reports that Jean Cone Snooks, Ailey, Ga., is to be presented for election on April 15 for Member-at-Large of the Wesleyan Alumnae association and Ann Maria Domingos, Macon, is the nominee for Alumnae Trustee.

Class Notes

KATE DAVIDSON ROBERTS, Cincinnati, Ohio, is greatgrandmother of Freshman Margaret Anise Harris, Savannah. She will soon be 100 years old. Congratulations, dear lady!

'05

next reunion in '73

Sympathy to ESTELLE STEVENS MASON, (sister-in-law) and EM-TELLE MASON CLISBY, '34, (niece) on the death in November of NEWELL MASON, Conservatory graduate of '08, and former teacher at Wesleyan, Mercer, and Florida Southern. For 14 years she worked with the Macon-Bibb County Health Dept.

next reunion in '73

Sympathy to LOULIE BARNETT, Lakeland, Fla., on the death in Aug. last year of her brother, Dr. Eugene Barnett, general secretary of the YMCA from 1941-53, and a "principal architect of its expansion around the world" (TIME Magazine); also on the death of her brother, Dr. Ira Barnett, in Aug. of last year, shortly before his 94th birthday. Latter was a trustee of Wesleyan for 16 years. She has offered some of the books from the library of her late brother, Fred, who died nine years ago, to the Wesleyan library. Two other brothers, 90 and 80, survive. "I feel I am wonderfully blest to be as active as I am at 87", she wrote in May. "This is my 20th year as a WSCS Circle chairman and I help with my music in Sunday School and on call elsewhere, and play ensemble in the music club, of which I have been a member nearly ever since I retired (from teaching music at WC) and came home in 1935. I enjoy the Wesleyan College NOW . . . news of the college's program and achievement gives me great pleasure."

Susan Leonard

NORA TAYLOR HOUSER, Macon, with her Loyalty Fund Contribution wrote: "Please keep on producing girls like SUSAN LEONARD; if so you can count on my tiny mite."

JESSIE HOLLINGSWORTH WALTON, Tifton, Ga. "While visiting in June my daughter, Frances, who lives at Rydal, we had the pleasure of having three of my classmates for lunch. They are ANNIE MAY STRICKLAND LEWIS, SUSAN LEONARD, and MARTHA HAYS PINSON, of Menlo Park, Calif., who was visiting Annie May. Of course we talked of Wesleyan, especially of the '09 Class. Best wishes for the Oldest and Best."

VIRGINIA JELKS is in a nursing home in Americus, Ga.

next reunion in '72

Honoring BLANCHE RUCKE R MADDOX, the WSCS of First United Methodist Church, Alpharetta, Ga., observed "Blanche Maddox Day" at its meeting Sept. 1. "Miss Blanche" was presented a Life Membership Pin, a certificate of membership, and a corsage of pink rose buds, also a sheaf of appreciative letters from friends, compiled into a book, "This is Your Life, Blanche Maddox." Active in civic affairs, she has been leader of a Bible study class and prayer group, named for her, since 1925, and a Sunday School teacher for the past 60 years. With a degree in music, as well as her AB from Wesleyan, she still has a class of music students. "Mrs. Maddox has been and still is one of the most outstanding citizens of our community. She is loved by all who know her, always willing to help out when needed," wrote VERA BROWN THOMPSON, of Alpharetta.

MADGE RAYLE SLAUGHTER, Orlando, Fla., while building up her strength after a heart attack, is trying to finish a history of her family she had begun.

next reunion in '72

Congratulations to ALLEEN POER HINTON, Macon, on celebrating her 80th birthday Oct. 27. Macon Alumnae Club sent orchids.

next reunion in '73

In honor of KATHARINE P. CARNES, long-time librarian at Wesleyan, Mrs. Silas Johnson gave to the library Hodding Carter's "Man and the River." Mrs. Johnson is the wife of a former president of Wesleyan.

next reunion in '74

Sympathy to EVELYN WRIGHT BANKS, Newnan, Ga., on the death of her brother, William Wright, last summer.

next reunion in '75

LUCIE MOBLEY MOORE, on her fiftieth wedding anniversary June 29, became a great grandmother with the arrival of David Bruner Runyan, reports MOZELLE TUMLIN. Double congratulations!

FRANCES HOLDEN MORRISON, Waycross, Ga., sent the sad news of the passing of SALLIE MAE KENNEMUR YOUNMANS, who died Jan. 12. A retired school teacher, she left her husband, two daughters, and a son.

ENTERED IN 1911

next reunion in '76

MARY PANSY AIKEN SLAPPEY, Atlanta, Ga., entered Wesleyan as a sub-freshman in 1911, the year before she was "sweet sixteen." She is Mrs. GEORGE H. SLAPPEY. She was listed in "Who's Who of American Women", in the 1960's; was a delegate from Georgia Education Assn. to World Organization of the Teaching Profession in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1947.

MARY LANE MALLETT, Jackson, Ga., reports that her daughter, JANE ANN MALLETT SETTLE and husband, John, will be returning home next March after three years in Frankfurt, Germany, where he is with the US Army procurement division. Mary visited them last summer while on a trip to Europe.

Congratulations to the William C. Turpins (EDITH CULPEPPER TURPIN) Macon, on the celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary in October. Their children entertained at a reception. Mr. Turpin celebrated his 80th birthday in August.

Sympathy to the family of C. B. BRANHAM, for forty years dean of Brenau Academy, Gainesville, Ga. She was the first woman ever to receive a Master's degree from Emory.

next reunion in '73

ISABEL BLOUNT BRANTLEY, Jacksonville, Fla., taught with ISABEL RICHTER '26, in the same school, Robert E. Lee High, for 25 years. "But Isabel was there 18 years longer than I was", she wrote. "We both speak of Wesleyan often".

Sympathy to LUCIA CHAPPELL DOMINGOS, Macon, on the death of her brother, Brig. Gen. Clarence J. Chappell (retired), Pensacola, Fla.

Congratulations to Dr. and Mrs. H. V. Weems (VAIL JONES WEEMS), of Sebring, Fla., on their Golden Wedding anniversary, celebrated in June with a gala reception at the Woman's Club, given by their son and wife, Dr. and Mrs. Edward V. Weems, Jr., Gainesville, and their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Macbeth. Numbers of out-of-towners joined local friends in paying tribute to this pioneer couple. The "bride" is the only woman in Florida to serve on the Methodist Foundation (with 14 men), and is a leader in church and educational organizations. Opening his own hospital in 1926 he was the first chief of staff of Highlands General, when it began in 1965. For fifteen years they have maintained a summer home at Lake Junaluska. This past summer they spent some time on a "second honeymoon" to Scandinavia.

next reunion in '74

ROSALINE JENKINS GILMORE'S cousin, Alfred S. Jenkins, career diplomat and China specialist from Baxley, Ga., was a member of President Nixon's 10-man advance team, headed by Henry A. Kissinger, which travelled to Communist China in October. Having served as a diplomat in Tientsin, Hong Kong, and Taipei, he speaks Chinese fluently, as did one other of the team, which precluded the need of an interpreter. "We are so proud of Alfred!" wrote Rosaline, from Decatur, Ga., enclosing, by request of your Editor, front-page clippings from the Atlanta newspapers. Many alumnae will remember Alfred Jenkins, nephew and adopted son of Wesleyan's President Charles R. Jenkins.

Son of the late FRANCES GURR McLANAHAN, wrote from Houston, Tex., a note of appreciation for the clipping sent to him from the special Weddings Section of the Macon Telegraph which featured a photo of his mother's wedding party. "Mother was an exciting and glamorous person throughout her life", wrote "Mike". "I think it is a great tribute to Wesleyan that its alumnae seem so close to it regardless of where they live. I know Mother's memories of Wesleyan were always as fresh in her mind as the day she graduated."

TURKS MARK GOLDEN

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Turk (MARY POPE WATSON TURK) celebrated their fiftieth anniversary on August 1. Their family made it a truly "golden day" with a reception in the Fellowship Hall of First United Methodist Church, Rome, Ga. Receiving with the couple were their only child, Walton (in his 19th year as principal at junior high in Dothan, Ala.), and his wife, Judy; four grandchildren; Mrs. M. E. Cox (sister and 1921 maid-of-honor), of Decatur; brother Donald Watson (ring bearer); and William Turk (brother and best man), of Santee, Ga. Two hundred guests from far and near enjoyed the happy day.

Mae Kelly Clements

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lee Greene, Sr., (ANNIE CLAIRE GIBSON) Montgomery, Ala., were honored on their fiftieth wedding anniversary with a reception given by their children and grandchildren on Aug. 1.

WILLIE SNOW ETHRIDGE, Moncure, N. C., spoke in May before the Coastal Georgia Historical Society, in Brunswick, Ga., on her then forth-coming book about John Wesley, now published under the title, "Strange Fires." President of the Society is Weyman C. Huckabee, former vice president in charge of development at Wesleyan.

Irene Sewell Hobby

MARTHA KING, Decatur, Ga., sent the sad news of ELLEN HINTON'S death Aug. 18. Sister of SARA HINTON POORE, Anderson, S. C., '19, Ellen taught in Atlanta over 40 years, retired four years ago. "She and I kept up our friendship which began at Wesleyan", wrote Martha. "We both taught English (not in the same high school) and worked together on committees, and since January as volunteers at Wesley Woods Center (nursing home) once a week."

Sympathy to SARAH BEAUCHAMP SPENCER, Jackson, Ga., on the death of her husband last summer.

next reunion in '73

'23 Rebekah Oliphant Anthony

'24

Elizabeth Proctor Wright

Sympathy to CAROLYN FULGHUM McCORD, Tulsa, Okla., on the death of her father, J. Walter Fulghum. Congratulations to RUBY TANNER, Lawrenceville, Ga. on the award from the American Heart Assn. won by her niece, Lynn Wiggins Fletcher, of Atlanta, for a documentary film. While growing up in Macon Lynn lived with Ruby and her mother.

WINNIFRED ROGERS, Greenville, S. C.: "Fond memories of Wesleyan are with me daily, and I wish for her continued progress and that always 'good influence' that has been shared by so many since her founding."

MILDRED TAYLOR STEVENS, Macon, went to Searcy, Ark., in November for the dedication of the Mildred Taylor Stevens Memorial Art Center on the campus of Harding College.

THE WESLEYAN ALUMNAE

ELIZABETH THWAITE JONES, Macon, retiring as principal of Agnes Barden elementary school, was presented a month's trip to Europe by the PTA. She served 38 years in the Bibb County schools, 17 at Barden. She studied piano and flute at Old Wesleyan, looks forward to time for music, gardening, her old bottle and stamp collections.

ROLINE TRIMBLE BOYLE, Atlanta, wrote some time ago a beautiful letter about the late MARGARET RICHARDS, long-time editor for the Fulton County Medical Society and recipient of an Alumnae Award for Distinguished Service to Wesleyan in 1950. "We alumnae of Group IV loved Margaret 'as no other' — her brilliance, her loyalty — mostly her courage, and we all would like to see our alumnae magazine tell about her house." Margaret willed her house, in Atlanta, to her Alma Mater. Several years ago Margaret told Roline: "The real close members of my family are gone. Wesleyan did more for me than I can ever do for Wesleyan. I went there a self-conscious little country girl. I left there knowing I was prepared to take my place, and I want to do a little something in just plain appreciation." A Margaret Richards Memorial Fund has been set up in her honor, to which friends and classmates subscribe.

MARY MILLER, Brunswick, Ga., celebrated the 25th anniversary of the Mary Miller Travel Service with open house at its St. Simon's branch on Nov. 4, and at its main branch next day. On November 29 she sponsored a luncheon in Brunswick for WILLIE SNOW ETHRIDGE, 20, who autographed her new book, "Strange Fires".

ANNIE MAE POWELL, president of Birdwood Junior College, Thomasville, Ga., represented her school at the inauguration of the president of West Georgia, Oct. 29.

'25 Mary Louise Collings

FRANCES CAMP moved last year from Tennille, Ga. to Rawlings Nursing Home, Sandersville, Ga. With her Loyalty Fund check she sent thanks for all the alumnae magazines sent to her over the years. "I love Wesleyan and wish I could do more for the Fund."

next reunion in '72

'26 Lucile Radney Newton

ELIZABETH CANNON NUNN, Perry, Ga., enjoyed a fascinating Study Abroad tour this past summer.

ISABEL RICHTER retired in June after 43 years as a biology teacher at Robert E. Lee High in Jacksonville. Among her students were Mayor Hans Tanzler, former State Sen. John Mathews, and Judge Albert Graessle, all of whom later sent their offspring to be among her many second-generation students. A veteran traveller, she hopes to continue seeing the world.

MARY ALLMAN ALFORD, supervisor of housekeeping at the U of Cincinnati, coordinates nine dorms and opened a 27 story co-ed dorm in Sept. She has two married sons, and seven grandsons. "They afford me great pleasure, and it is a joy to live close enough to see them often." Mary planned to be in Macon in August for a family reunion celebrating the 70th BD of her brother John Allman, Atlanta.

MARTHA MIDDLEBROOKS ROBERTS, Atlanta, is a great aunt of Freshman Margaret Anise Harris, Savannah. KATE DAVIDSON ROBERTS, Cincinnati, Ohio, 1889, cherished great grandmother, will soon be 100 years old, and is probably Wesleyan's oldest living alumna.

NORA ELIZABETH MARTIN, who died April 27, lived all her life in the "Cannon Ball House" on Georgia Avenue, in Macon. So named because a cannon ball penetrated its walls during the Civil War, this house is HQ for the UDC and contains the Phi Mu and ADPi rooms formerly at Old Wesleyan.

Son of EMILY BROWN EDWARDS, Prentiss Edwards, Jr., his wife and son Sam live in a historic house at Holly Bluff, near Macon, which was moved from Granite Hill in Hancock County. The house, built by Confederate veteran Col. Andrew Jackson Lane, was discovered five years ago by Emily and her daughter-in-law while searching out family history in Sparta, Ga. After its 22-inch thick granite blocks were moved and reassembled the house burned, only to rise from its ashes to its present gleaming white beauty. BLYTHE McKAY, '28, woman's editor of the Macon Telegraph, wrote a feature article, with photos for the issue of Sunday, Sept. 26.

'27 Virginia McJenkin

Sympathy to ELIZABETH COATES JAMES, Macon, on the loss of her brother, Capt. Edward N. Coates, of Irvington, Tex.

MARY LOU CATE CLARKE, Newport News, Va.: "A.B. and I retired two years ago at the Virginia Annual Conference. We are enjoying our home, almost across the street from our oldest daughter. The three grandchildren hardly know which house is home."

MILDRED GOWER SIMS, Atlanta, was elected an elder of the Druid Hills Presbyterian Church. KATHLEEN MACKAY POWELL also serves as an elder. "Guess the reason I am such a happy person is I am so proud of my friends and their many accomplishments", writes MABEL CAMP-BELL GIBSON, who reports she has been ailing.

'28

next reunion in '72

ANNIE MAYS LARMORE, Atlanta, branch librarian with Atlanta Public Library, wrote she received good reports from Wesleyan students (her former patrons) on Project '71. "I hope something modern in viewpoint like this can continue, yet not take over at Wesleyan", she said, sending "best wishes for continued growth and development of Dear Ole Wesleyan". Her daughter received her PhD in clinical psychology from Emory this year. She lives in Philadelphia with husband, David Dammann, and children, Shannon and Sean.

ELIZABETH SCHUESSLER COBBS, Andalusia, Ala., has an only son who is an Episcopal minister, vicar of two churches on the Gulf coast. He is married to SUE NETHERY, '57, and they have two children, Kitty, 9, and John, 4. "I spend a great deal of my time with them at Bon Secour, and babysit for clergy conferences, etc. I had no idea being a grandmother could be so much fun."

Sympathy to ELMINA CHAMBERS FEAGIN, Macon, on the death of her husband, R. Douglas Feagin, attorney, Oct. 6. He was director of the city's land development office and a former city councilman, as well as former manager of the Greater Macon Chamber of Commerce.

GERALDINE DESSAU WHEELER, Macon, retired in May after 40 years as a teacher and librarian from Bibb Technical High School (formerly the Macon Vocational School). Only one year she "played hookey", working in 1944 at the US Naval Ordnance Plant. It was Geraldine Wheeler Day at the school, and ended with the presentation of a lawn mower, with a mulcher, to the surprised Gerrie.

'30 Monica Holt Oliver

Sympathy to the family of SARAH E. FERNANDEZ, Methodist missionary and deaconess for 39 years, who died in Miami during pre-retirement furlough. The last Methodist missionary to leave Cuba after the communist takeover, after 23 years in Cuba, her last service was in Costa Rica.

CORNELIA TURNER THORNTON, Cordele, has been showered with congratulations since being voted Georgia's Mother-of-the-Year. "I have been overwhelmed by the thoughtfulness of people", she wrote in July. "My oldest granddaughter, Lynn Bissell, will be a senior in high school this fall. Her mother and I hope she will decide she wants to go to Wesleyan."

'31 Julia Bell Pierce

CHRISTINE BEAVERS WARBER: "Enjoyed the reunion picture of my former classmates from 40 years ago". Although I found a list of names, also, I was unable to put names and faces together. We do change, as I well know! Is there anyone who can do this for me?"

ELIZABETH WOODWARD BRADLEY, Greensboro, N. C.: "Sorry to miss 31's fortieth reunion. Maybe I can make our fiftieth, if I don't have any more grandchildren. I was busy with the sixth one in March." Congratulations!

Sympathy to ELIZABETH DANIEL DENTON, Macon, on the death of her father in October.

JULIA BRYANT EVANS and her husband Fred, live in Bartow, Ga. Mary Charlton, her daughter, married Dr. Marvin A. Brantley III, a resident physician at the Emory Clinic. They have two daughters and a son. Son Fred Jr. graduated from Mercer U Law School. He is married and has a fine young daughter. . . With JANIE SIMMS YOUNG she came back in June. "But I must admit I do miss the Old Conservatory", she added, sending along the following news:

ONETA MATHEWS DRENON writes: "I am teaching private speech and piano pupils, active in church work, and for fun arrange flowers and judge flower shows. Our son and daughter both are married and live in Jesup, so we get to see our grandchildren, three boys and three girls often".

JANIE SIMS YOUNG lives in Augusta with her mother. She works at Fort Gordon, is still interested in her music and sings in the church choir. Her son Frank lives in Atlanta.

DOROTHY SMITH HOPKINS writes: "We have two sons who are married. Lindsay III has two daughters. Carter, named for my brother, Dr. Carter Smith, has a son." Dorothy and her husband live in Atlanta and Miami.

KITTY BAILEY MILTON: "I am working in D.A.R. for the State Society and love it. My husband, Dr. John D. Milton, retired from active practice some time ago. We travel most of the time." Their home base is Coral Gables, Fla. Kitty's daughter, Martha and her husband live in Towson, Md. They have three children. Ransom Jr. and wife live in Atlanta. They have four children.

MARY McDANIEL HURST'S husband is president of the Georgia Division, Gibson Homans Co. and they live in Lithonia. Their daughter is married and lives in Columbia, Missouri. Mary hopes the granddaughters will choose the "Oldest and the Best". Her son is not married but lives in Atlanta.

'68 Judy Floyd Smith

GAYLE CLARK, with the TB and Respiratory Disease Assn. in Columbia, S. C., wrote: "My job here is just perfect. I work with schools, clubs, churches in programming. We're trying to educate the public on the hazards of air pollution and smoking on respiratory diseases . . . We've just recently organized an Environmental Coalition to provide information relating to what the individual can do to protect and enhance his environment. Last Sat. marked our second 'Recycling Day'. All cans, bottles, and paper can be recycled to make more of the same. It was very successful — over 922 cars passed thru the gates to dump their solid wastes. You might want to do something similar at Wesleyan with students, faculty, and alumnae. You get money, too, for all the wastes . . . DEBBIE CLEMENTS, working the Carolinas for Wesleyan, moved here recently. I ran into CAROLYN NEWMAN, '65, who works with Neighborhood Youth Corps. We had lunch together and decided it was high time Columbia had an alumnae club . . . We're really excited about this . . ."

MIRIAM TUCKER is on the music faculty of Middle Georgia College, sings in the choir at First United Methodist. She received her Master's from Northwestern, and formerly lived in McRae, Ga.

BARBARA SNEDEN EXUM returned home from a year in Korea in DECEMBER, 1971

May. Her husband, William, is now Capt. retired, and is associated with the Macon law firm, Bloch, Hall, Hawkins, and Owens. They moved into their new home June 1.

EMILY TRIBBLE BURNETT is in Leflakik, Iceland, where her husband, Lewis, is the naval station assistant security office (Lt. j.g.) and pilot. Emily was chosen last February to be hostess on a program on American Forces TV, "Emily's Afternoon", consisting of news and Bulletin Board.

LASH LAWTON WOODCOCK, Colorado Springs, Colo., plans to continue teaching piano in her new address. Husband Tom, who received his DDS degree from Emory last June, is now stationed at Fort Carson.

MARTHA PAFFORD has been promoted to publicity associate in McGraw-Hill's Division of Higher Education in New York. She vacationed at home in Valdosta, Ga., this summer.

MARTHA HERRING STUBBS, Tallahassee, had her first child in March (see Births), teaches private piano and is youth director for the First United Methodist Church in Cairo, Ga. Husband Ron still works for the state university and the Board of Regents as a statistician-budget analyst.

BABS RICHARDSON PIRKLE, her husband, and baby moved from Valparaiso, Fla., to Roswell, Ga. last summer.

'69 Sandy Eversole

CATHY METTETAL CASKY could not be at Reunion. "On March 26 I was very proudly watching my husband, Charles, receive his pilot's wings at Moody Air Force Base, Valdosta, Ga. We are now stationed at Mather AF Base, Sacramento, Calif." They had a most enjoyable trip out west visiting famous spots en route.

MELISSA LANE THOMAS'S second daughter, four-month-old Jennie Manget Thomas, was christened Oct. 24 at Vineville United Methodist Church, Macon. Named for JENNIE LOYALL MANGET, '12, baby Jennie and sister Kelley, three, are granddaughters of Wesleyan Trustee McKibben Lane, Greensboro, N. C.; LINDA ANDERSON LANE, '19, is great-grandmother. A number of relatives, many of them alumnae, came to town for the event.

NANCY GREER HAMILTON wrote with her annual "thanx" check for the Loyalty Fund that she is enjoying working at Georgia Tech, Atlanta, where husband Kenneth is back, after being out of school for eight years. Working with her in financial aids is Mrs. Dorothy McClure, mother of LAURA MCCLURE BERKOWITZ, '68. "Wesleyannes came out of the woodwork!" she wrote. "Momma Dot" had just returned from NYC where she visited Laura, whose husband Mark was in stockbroking school there. Nancy reported visits in Atlanta from some Golden Hearts, LOUISE CROSS, for whom her daughter Kate Louise is named; DONNA COOK, and PAM FINLAYSON (Aunt "Fin"), JEAN TOLBERT LYNDON '52 and JUDY MIDDLETON. "We all had one big Polynesian dinner at our new townhouse!! It was really wonderful to see everybody . . . give my love to Dr. Strickland. Wish you all well in your new administrative changes. Hope it gives WC a 'shot in the arm.' " Nancy, and her husband, Ken, and baby girl Katy (only granddaughter on both sides) with their miniature dachshund, visited campus in June en route to Atlanta.

JEAN MEACHAM, Raleigh, N. C., is director of admissions at Peace College.

'70 Jonnie Johnston

ANN SCOTT received her MS in Library Science from the U of Kentucky in May, began working in July as children's librarian for the Petersburg Public Library, Petersburg, Va.

YOKO ICHIKAWA, of Japan, is back in the USA for this year, teaching Japanese at Colgate U. She lives about ten minutes from campus, eats her meals in a student dining hall. She wrote President and Mrs. Strickland that she had been carrying a full schedule, that the autumn coloring was "just magnificent, almost like a piece of tapestry", with frosted mornings portending snow. "We have January Project, too, and my plan is not so tough. Maybe I will be able to come down to the warm South. Girls of the third floor, Hightower — MARGARET MCKENZIE JENNINGS, JEANNIE YAGER TRIBBLE, and some others are still writing to me. I'll probably see PATTI VOYLES, my roommate, in Boston during Thanksgiving holidays. Please send my best regards to all the people I know at Wesleyan."

B. J. MOLPUS was granted a fellowship in health education to the U of Southern Mississippi this year. She taught last summer at Governor's Honors Program at Wesleyan.

ELIZABETH PITTMAN sent her Loyalty Fund contribution from Korea. She regretted not being able to attend Reunion. "The one in 1970 will always be a highlight and will be an incentive to attend those to come. I'm having a great year in Korea, but I sure miss the USA — wow! I find myself reminiscing about Wesleyan so much more than I ever expected. A lot of the guys are familiar with the school and know girls who go there. I even met one officer who remembers the girls coming to Ft. Benning for the OCS parties. It is great to find that people know about WC and have favorable comments to make. I'm really proud to have graduated from there. It is so good to read the alumnae magazine . . . copies of T and C. and am glad to keep up with everybody."

BJORG JULSRUD wrote from Norway in May to her former teacher, Miss Linda Lane, that she had been chosen from among "young talents" to play as piano soloist with the Philharmonic Orchestra of Oslo on April 20, 1972. Her photo will appear in the year's program. Within two weeks of the try-outs she also was presented by her teacher in a recital of 12 students in the concert hall of Oslo, and took written exams in English for three days. She planned to work in the summer as a travel guide in Scandinavia for American tourists.

JANET SOUTHGATE JONES CAGLE has moved to High Point, N. C. "The NOW newsletter is very interesting", she writes, "and most informative . . . it is such a delight to receive it!"

JEANNE YAGER TRIBBLE wrote that she was moving to Athens. "I would like copies of WC NOW at my new address. Thank you for such a great way to keep in touch with Wesleyan."

ANNE HERNDON OSWALD, Summerville, S. C. (see Marriages) does substitute teaching, plans to go into real estate. Husband Ned is in a building supply and hardware business. "Nothing but wonderful memories fill my heart as I remember my dear Oldest and Best", she wrote. "The newsletter and financial reports, along with the alumnae magazine, are greatly appreciated. I look forward to their coming."

A Letter from Columbus, Miss.

Dear Friends,

Enclosed is my check representing the first annual payment on my three-year pledge to the Wesleyan financial campaign. I wish this amount could be much larger, but please rest assured that it brings with it a heart full of love and good wishes for the future of Wesleyan.

I shall always feel indebted to Wesleyan and the officials who made it possible for me to finish my senior year there after financial reverses struck my family. Between a scholarship, a correspondent's job with the Macon Telegraph, a student assistantship in the Journalism Department under my precious Miss Garner, and a sizeable student loan I was able to graduate. That is one of the great blessings of my life! I hope my small contributions now can help make it possible for some other girl to have the same opportunity and reap the same rich benefits.

Thanks to everybody at Wesleyan . . . then and now. And may God bless you all.

Sincerely,
Carolyn Bacon Beard, '38

1972 Alumnae Tour

Including . . . Paris,
Copenhagen, Amsterdam,
Bergen, London

June 13-27
Write Alumnae Office for Details

Tour Price

$750 Round Trip
from New York

Bon voyage!

Inquiries have been pouring into the Alumnae Office since the announcement of the 1972 Alumnae Tour of Europe, from June 13 to June 27.

The group will leave New York and jet to Paris, returning from London two weeks later.

London . . . Oxford . . . Stratford-on-Avon . . .

Bergen, capital of Western Norway in the heart of the fjord country . . .

Copenhagen, Denmark's gay capital, (Tivoli Gardens, the Little Mermaid) and Amsterdam, "Venice of the North", with its 50 canals and 400 bridges . . . Paris, sophisticated "City of Light" . . .

Besides sightseeing, the palaces and museums and cathedrals, there will be enough time to explore "on your own," to shop, to sample theatre and nightlife.

Tour price of $750 includes round-trip jet air transportation from New York, first class hotels, sightseeing and transportation in Europe and almost all meals.

The services of a professional tour company thoroughly familiar with European travel have been secured to take care of details and provide a troublefree vacation. Before departure they will send full details on shopping, currency, packing, and other information.

The Wesleyan Alumnae tour is open to alumnae, parents of students, faculty, friends, and their families.

Frances Van Horn, Alumnae Director, says, "We hope you will take advantage of this unforgettable opportunity to tour with congenial companions and old friends. For further information, please write me at the Alumnae Office. See you in Paris!"
